

ANGELS OF ATLANTIS READING

Joanne Lewis-Plimmer meets the exceptionally talented healer Stewart Pearce for an Angels of Atlantis card reading and sound healing

Despite being a minute or two late and therefore rushing to the appointment for my reading, I was immediately calmed by the wonderful atmosphere inside Stewart's spacious front room where the sunlight coming through the huge windows was complemented by flickering white candles and the fragrance of incense. Beautiful soft music played as we took seats facing each other for a consultation and guidance.

Stewart has huge presence and is very warm and nurturing. He acts as a mirror to your concerns during the consultation and gets firmly but lovingly to the point with kindness and razor-sharp perception, often myth-busting what we believe as truth in a certain situation and enabling us to see the real truth with a calm acceptance (sometimes we aren't truly aware of what we say and what we really mean). This is certainly a pit-fall of mine and Stewart helped me to gain a clarity that was quite astounding as clearly I was living in fear. A true 'mirror' without ego like Stewart is a rare thing indeed.

Life changes

Now that a major life change was coming for me, I wanted to request the help of the angels to chart a path between building on my successes in the job that I love and expanding it to the point where it would be a natural step to take it to a new level in the future, whilst including the man with whom I've been in a long-distance relationship for ten years in another country. A tall order? Maybe not as Stewart believes that we manifest our destiny.

Stewart asked me to hold the deck and I was struck by the beauty of the artwork and depth of the colours; they seemed almost to vibrate with deep, tangible energy to such an extent that I was reluctant to put them down.

I was asked to shuffle the cards and to use my breath to put my intention and wishes into them to negotiate a true path and be freed from any time-wasting illusion in any area of my life.

I was then asked to pick one card at a time and Stewart explained its entire significance to me, reading from the accompanying booklet to expand on the meaning and let it all gel with my situation. The accuracy was unquestionably beyond other readings I have had or cards I had previously used myself.

Trusting oneself

Trust and Faith were strong messages and certainly both these qualities have been lacking in me of late; trust in myself, in others and their agendas and also trust in the Universe and the Divine plan.

This major event was quite sudden and is happening at the same time that emotional upheavals and health issues with my mother are seemingly coming to a head. I was very afraid of this situation with my mother compromising my future plans because of limited weekday time to spend with her. She is constantly informing me that I never do enough, yet I do all I can.

I watch her isolate family, friends and the professionals paid to perform care tasks in her own home and, as the reading continued, this led on to the theme of not being so hard on myself, of giving myself a break and that abundance would flow with developing my job, enabling care for her and manifesting my future. The next group of cards were to instil a sense of grace and balance along with intention and integrity.

The reading made answers much clearer as the patterns emerged and I felt considerably calmer afterwards. The beautiful, resonant, sound healing Stewart performed with his voice before we parted company was incredible. It was the perfect finish to a unique experience and in all my years as a member of various choirs I've never heard a sound so pure and so far-reaching.

The reading proved prophetic. I can highly recommend a reading with Stewart and I will certainly be using my deck a lot more from now on too.
